

A checkerboard cake. A cork too nice to throw away. A one-sided conversation with a pet. A forgotten backpack. A packed schedule. A teenager peering into a fully loaded pantry, saying, "There's never anything to eat in here." A puffy omelet. A flawless air guitar solo on a wooden spoon. A set-aside casserole pan to return to the neighbor. A warm goat cheese spread with breadcrumb topping. A "Good morning!" A grumpy, pre-caffeinated reply. A little. A lot. A life.

A They-Grow- Up-So-Fast Kitchen

DESIGNED SPECIFICALLY FOR:
The Lendaro Family | Minneapolis, Minnesota
Dads up late with the laptop, finishing office work, then up early at the stovetop. Weekdays are scheduled tight, so weekends are kept as loose as possible. With so much happening at all hours, a thoughtfully efficient, organized kitchen tends to keep everyone together and in a good mood.

A Kitchen For (All) The Ages

DESIGNED SPECIFICALLY FOR:

The Kapoor Family | New Albany, Ohio (Columbus metro)
When the last adult kid clears out, life returns to time spent as a couple enjoying a little domestic peace—till the grandkids visit. Those days, several a month, the house converts to Kidsville, where anything from watercolors to nearly endless snacking to finding both shoes for trips to the park keeps everybody hopping.

Chanlett Cherry | Molasses | Chantlett Maple | Aged Concrete

A Command Center Kitchen

DESIGNED SPECIFICALLY FOR:

The Williams Family | Roanoke, Virginia

Nothing happens without going through the kitchen—it's where everything begins, usually as a casual discussion, and it's the pad from which the day is launched. When everyone's active, life is full. But when everyone's together, it's also manageable.

The Bath

At KraftMaid, we're always looking for problems to solve. So naturally, we took everything we've learned about making life better in the kitchen and applied it to the bathroom. For example, we talked to people about "that drawer" in every vanity, the one with the jumble of small items at the bottom—our wood-tiered storage is a Bath Innovation specifically designed to maximize that space.

Sedona Maple | Praline

Putnam Cherry | Husk Suede

Want to capture a particular shade or a smooth, colorful look?

That's what paint is good for. A painted kitchen gives you control over the exact color, and has a more uniform feel. It takes over seven hours to paint a door, each coat adds to its durability and helps create a smooth, even finish. Some time resulting from wood's natural expansion and contraction are normal and—since they lend a little character—actually desirable.

Want to see the wood's grain and natural characteristics?

We hand-spray and hand-rub all our stains to bring out the defining character of each wood species. There are lots of color tints and effects, and in different ways, they all highlight what's interesting about the individual wood species.

Need a closer look? Order a sample.

Visit kraftmaid.com/samples to order a chip or door. That way you can see any stain on a specific wood species in person and make sure you're happy before you commit. Sample cost is eligible for a rebate when you place your full kitchen order.

Yes, there are a lot of doors. That way, we'll have exactly the one that's right for you.

Take some time and leaf back through this book. Pause at the kitchens you like—notice the role door style plays in the overall look. You'll probably see similarities between the styles you tend to like, which is a good starting point for a discussion with your designer.
